Key Roles & Responsibilities

As a role of Engineering Director, I lead the mobile applications department with a comprehensive role that encompasses both strategic leadership and hands-on technical expertise. My key responsibilities include:

- Strategic Leadership and Team Building: Successfully built and expanded the mobile apps team from 2 to 45 members, overseeing recruitment, onboarding, and development. Foster a collaborative, high-performing work environment, driving the strategic direction of the team.
- End-to-End Product Ownership: Provide end-to-end oversight of mobile application development, from initial concept and architecture to deployment and ongoing maintenance. Ensure that all solutions align with the company's long-term vision and meet the highest standards of quality.
- Architecture and System Design: Spearhead the design and architecture of mobile applications, ensuring scalability, security, and performance. Lead the adoption of new technologies and frameworks that enhance the overall product offering.
- Technical Leadership in React Native: Lead the development of cross-platform mobile applications using React Native. Establish best practices, code quality standards, and development processes that ensure the delivery of reliable and maintainable software.
